Help Your Student Manage Stress

The teen brain is naturally primed to build healthy habits for managing stress. To stay on top of stress, students need guidance to recognize their existing skills, ones strong enough for them to rely on. They also need help to set up intentional efforts to build up other skills until they have a full set.

Join us Thursday, 1/18/18, for a parent workshop where parents can learn to be their Knight's Ally.

- Understand how stress impacts resilience and your student's ability to think and learn.
- Learn high-impact ways to help your student relax and how to adapt and apply those skills in your family.

- Discuss strategies to build resilience. Take home a specific list of the skills your student needs to build resilience throughout their lives, along with a plan to develop missing or weak skills.

Today's teens feel immense pressure. Building resilience helps them to thrive despite high demands. We revised our second workshop to focus on what our first group found most helpful. Join us for a 90-minute session designed for the Knight community on Thursday, 1/18/18, at 7 PM. Click here to register. RSVP required so that we have materials ready for you.

Feedback from our first Knight Ally Workshop:

- "I came away with something I could use for each of my three kids. I have a 10th grader, an 8th grader and a 4th grader and each one needs something different to help them build their resilience."
- "The workshop is definitely going to benefit both parents and their students."

Multi-Lingual Well-Wishers Sought

Filming will take place on Monday and Tuesday and the video will show at the Winterfest Assembly.

Hot Breakfast, Everyday or Now & Then

Your student can get a hot breakfast every morning at Newport. Our cafeteria serves breakfast every morning starting at 8 AM for a small fee paid with your district lunch account.

Students using the free and reduced-price meal program can use that account for breakfast.

An Express Lunch is offered on Wednesday during the nutritional break at 11:35 AM.

Buckets of Umbrellas Stand Ready

You may have noticed the buckets of umbrellas by our exterior doors near the chickens and JV baseball field. Community members donated the umbrellas to help students stay dry as they walk to and from the portable classrooms. If you have an umbrella to donate to the cause, just leave it in the bucket.
